Horace Greeley as a Poet.

The first newspaper venture of Horace Greeley was not in a political, but in a literary journal, called the New York. The first number of that paper contained the following poem upon the death of the celebrated William Wirt, written when Greeley was but 23 years of age

ON THE DEATH OF WILLIAM WIRT

Rouse out the muffled drum,
Wake not the martial trumpet's mournful sound,
For him whose mighty voice on death is dumb,
Who lo the zenith of his high renown,
To the grave went down.

Invoke no cannon's breath
To swell the requiem o'er his ashes poured—
Silent bear him to the bourn of death,
The aching hearts by whom he was adored,
He won not with the sword.

No! let affliction's tear
Be the sole tribute to his memory paid;
Earth has no monument so lasting dear
To souls like his purity arrayed—
Never to fade.

I loved the pure, patriot chief!
I battled proudly 'neath thy banner pure
Mine is the breast of woe—the heart of grief,
Which suffer on unmindful of a cure—
Proud to endure.

But vain the voice of will
For those, from this dim vale of sorrow fled—
Earth has no spell whose magic shall not fail
To light the gloom that shrouds thy narrow bed
Or woo them from the dead.

Then take thy long repose
Beneath the shelter of the deep green sod;
Death but a brighter halo o'er thee throws—
Thy fame, thy soul, alike have spurned the clod—
Rest thee in God.

OREGON.

—Thomas Shannon was made a citizen in the Circuit Court at Salem on Thursday last.

A new drug store is being established at Hillsboro and pills are expected to go down.

Rev. P. S. Knight, of Salem, will lecture at Albany on The Cynic next Monday evening.

The result of the McMinnville ditch suit at Salem was a substantial dissolution of the corporation.

The measles are raging among the youthful population at Hillsboro. The epizootic has disappeared.

The Statesman says a wheat buyer in Salem has orders from a Portland firm to purchase 50,000 bushels.

The locks at Lian City will be completed so that boats may pass up the river in ten days, so says the Enterprise.

A large hall is being built at Albany, to be used for public gatherings, such as political meetings, balls, parties, etc.

The Democrat says: Hon. N. H. Crandt's last words were "Give me a lift—help me over the precipice, and I will soon be home."

But one restaurant is now open to the hungry traveler in Salem. The proprietor of that one is not grumbling because the others have closed up.

A pretty fair wood cut, representing a game of base ball with the city of Albany, in the background, adorns the columns of the Register of this week.

Our Hillsboro correspondent says a large number of wagons pass through that place every day bound for Portland, and loaded with wheat, flour, chickens, butter, etc.

A young man named Cleaver had his leg broken at Gervais a few days ago by falling backwards from a platform, upon which he had been handling sacks of wheat.

The farmers in Washington county have been busy nearly all fall and the bird help complain because the rain does not become a steadier visitor and give them more chances to rest.

The Register says: "A party called Uncle George (said his name used to be Donahue, now Volcanic), was examined by Drs. Tate and Alexander, on Thursday, before his honor, Judge Tandy, and was adjudged insane. He was given into the hands of the Sheriff and will be forwarded to the Asylum at East Portland.

The man Davis, whom it will be remembered was married at Silverton about a year a ago and went to Salem for a team, and was not heard from afterwards, has turned up in Illinois, from which place he has sent for his "better half," who left for that State a few days since.

Superintendent Odenell, who has just returned from the seat of war in the Klamath country, informs the Statesman that he thinks there is no danger of any further murders by the Indians and that the difficulty will be very soon ended by the surrender of the refractory bands.

An Oregon City editor congratulates a friend who has got a situation in the penitentiary and says "he is a good man." We know of several fellows getting situations in the institution of late, and we doubt not that their qualifications for the place are as good as those of the editor's friend referred to.

The Statesman says: "The incestuous convict McFarland is still in a crazy mood. He has fallen, now, into the lachrymose vein and shoals oceans of tears per day. He is particularly pathetic on the subject of his sons, and begs piteously that their lives may be spared. We think that suspicion has taken root in certain quarters that the man's madness hath too much of a certain method in it."

The Courier says. "At the late session of the Legislature a Joint Memorial was adopted asking Congress to appropriate $20,000 for the improvement of the Yamhill river. A movement is now on foot to press the matter upon the attention of Congress by petition, and to this end a meeting is called to assemble at McMinnville, on Monday, December 23d, after which meetings will be held elsewhere with a view to a vigorous representation of our needs in the premises."

Mr. Lemuel Foute, an old citizen of Oregon City, died very suddenly at his residence in Canemah last Tuesday night. Mr. F. was at work in his shop late in the evening, as well as usual, and made no complaints on retiring. In the night the person sleeping with him was awakened by unusual hard breathing, but soon went to sleep again, when he next awoke he found him dead Dr. Barclay examined the body and could find no cause to suspicion any foul play, and it is the opinion he died from disease of the heart.

The Board of Land Commissioners met at Salem Dec. 11th, and decided the case of Geo. Ellis vs H N V Holmes, Polk county, a case to determine the right of purchase of 10 acres of land: decision in favor of Holmes The case of A N. V. Holmes vs Martin V. Mann, contest to decide right of purchase, postponed one month to give the parties time to furnish evidence of settlement. Case of Joese Applegate vs Jas D Fay, contest to decide right of purchase of swamp lands lying in and around Rhett Lake, Jackson county; postponed one month, on account of the absence of Applegate in the Indian country. The Board adjourned to Jan. 14, 1873.

A company are engaged in sluicing dirt from Douna Bar, 15 miles from Quartzville, averaging from $3 to $5 per day to the hand. Eight miles below Donien Bar is another mining camp, called "Frenchman's Cave," where, from the same character of dirt, from $3 to $5 per day is being sluiced out in fine gold No quicksilver is used and all the gold is not caught. The diggings average twelve feet in depth, and are quite extensive. Greenhorn Bar, another flat in the same district, about thirty-five miles from this city, invites energy and capital. These last diggings are about sixty feet deep, and prospect from the grass roots down—gravel almost from the top of the ground to the bedrock.

The House took up the Soldiers' Bounty act After debate a motion was made by Hawley to recommit the bill. Rejected, ayes 69; noes 90 A substitute offered by Holman was adopted, 104 to 64.

Bill amended and passed, 116 to 55.

The bill as passed allows bounty, and lands to be entered in the name of the soldier or his widow in person or by agent under such regulations as the Secretary of the Interior may prescribe; but patents shall be issued only to such soldier or his widow or orphan children, but no sale of such land or any interest therein, or power of attorney, authorizing such sale or other contract or agreement in any wise affecting or concerning such land made prior to issuing of patent therefor and delivery of the same to the person to whom it shall be assigned shall be of any effect whatever but shall be null and void.

The Deficiency Appropriation bill was reported. It appropriates $1,039,000, and is made the special order for the Pension Appropriation bill.

Garfield gave some statistical information in regard to pensioners, stating among other things, as a curious fact, that of the widows of Revolutionary soldiers, who are on pension rolls, less than 10 per cent. had died during the year. Of the 38,000 persons put on pension rolls during the year, 17,000 were soldiers of the War of 1812, and some 9,000 were dropped from death and various other causes.

The Boston Relief Committees in Want of More Money.

BOSTON, Dec. 7.—The Executive and Finance Relief Committees state as follows:

"The Central Relief Committee have charge of persons burnt out to the number of between eight hundred and one thousand families. The Committee for the assistance of men thrown out of employment have received and investigated 1,500 applications, and the Committee for the relief of women thrown out of employment have received and investigated 4,300 applications. The Committees severally have given aid to all applicants who deserved and need it, and they must continue to do so for some weeks. The Committee on Aid will require an additional sum for the proper completion of their work. A careful estimate of our future needs leads to the conviction that not less than $150,000 will be required to give the relief which ought still to be given. Independently of the special fund for firemen, the sum at the disposal of the General Committee is about $50,000, which will be exhausted in ten or twelve days. We therefore feel it our duty to make known the importance and necessity of raising $100,000 in addition to the amount already subscribed. We contemplate, with a reluctance which will be generally shared, the only alternative, that of making an appeal to other cities for aid, because we believe the people of Boston are perfectly able to meet this demand without difficulty, and that they desire, and ought to desire, to meet it themselves."

ANOTHER EDICT AGAINST COOLIEISM.—The Governor-General of Kwang-tung, China, owing to the rapid increase of the coolie trade to supply the Spanish-American colonies and the States of this continent of Spanish origin, has found it necessary to issue a very severe edict against the traffic. Those who decoy or buy and sell the coolies in China are denounced as vagabonds, and the severest penalties are declared against their crime. Japan has taken a similar course, and it now only remains for the United States, England, France and Germany to act as promptly as they did in the case of the east African coast slave trade, for the suppression of this new system of slavery, and the

SATURDAY MORNING, DEC 14, 1872.

The Slave Trade.

Since it has become impossible for slavery to exist in the United States, our people have acquired a habit of regarding that institution as a thing of the past so far as civilized nations are concerned. But such is not the case. It is true that Christian nations have come to regard slavery as a crime, but is not true that all the peoples professing to be Christian have given up practicing that crime. Cuba sits at our very door and counts the value of her human chattels. Three years ago, when the only man fit to be a King, who has lived in Spain for half a generation, was at the head of public affairs in that country, an edict was issued for the ultimate purpose of abolishing slavery on the island. It was not a full and unconditional emancipation, for General Prim's supporters in Cuba were of a class that would not submit to that, and he was not in a condition that would permit him to offend them. The edict, however, made a long step in the right direction, providing for great amelioration of the condition of the slaves, and opening the way to still more radical measures. Its aim was the emancipation of all the slaves. Prim was the only progressive statesman in Spain, or at all events, the only one came fairly to the surface, and he was soon disposed of after the Spanish fashion. His edict of humanity only received the compliment of a formal promulgation at Havana, and died. It has never been revoked or repealed, but it is a dead letter, and the fugacious slaves will continue to be hunted by their masters through the mountains, with blood-hounds.

Over a large portion of that civilized world which does not profess to be Christian, slavery is still prevalent. Mohammedan and Asiatic people spend the wealth of the Orient for slaves. Africa is the slave-producing ranch of the world, and the slave hunter roams over a space of country on that continent larger than the United States. The principal hunting grounds have been transferred from the region north of the Great Desert, to the more Southern portion of Africa, but it is estimated that fifty thousand negroes are annually seized in this northern section, over half of whom die of mistreatment before reaching the market for which they are destined. To the south of the desert the atrocious business is carried on to a still greater extent, with about the same relative proportion of destruction of life.

A meeting of English philanthropists was recently held in London, presided over by by the Mayor of that city, at which considerable light was thrown upon the subject of the slave trade. It was stated that the Sultan of Zanzibar permits the keeping of a slave market in that island, for trade between the slave-catchers of Africa and the purchasers from other portions of the world. Here is the mart to which nearly all the negroes taken south of the Sahara, are brought for sale. This market is under the sanction of a treaty between Zanzibar and England. The existence of this treaty furnishes the explanation of Sir Bartle Frere, who, it was some time ago announced, was sent to that island for the purpose of endeavoring, if possible, to check the slave trade. He was sent to procure the abrogation of the English sanction to that trade. The legitimate commerce of the island is increasing so rapidly of late, that the slave trade can not longer be continued, without exciting the indignation of Christian countries, and must be suppressed in some manner. One of the speakers at the meeting above alluded to, said the nefarious traffic must not be continued longer under the implied protection of the British Government, even if, in order to procure the abrogation of the treaty with Zanzibar, it should be found necessary to subsidize the Sultan to the extent of some thousands of pounds; to which the Bishop of Winchester caustically rejoined, that the purchasers were mostly British merchants from Hindostan; and therefore, if England proposed to withdraw from the Sultan a commerce of such great value, which she has long awarded him, she ought to be willing to pay him for the privilege of doing so.

America, meanwhile, comes in for her share in this crime against civilization. The buyers are not American citizens. This branch of the business is enjoyed by British subjects, they having greater facilities for commercial intercourse with Mohammedan and Asiatic people. To the Americans is awarded the odious distinction of being the most enterprising and expert kidnappers. They go into the interior, hiring Arab caravans, and bring out the victims. Sometimes they penetrate as far as five hundred miles into the interior of the continent, the nefarious traffic having nearly depopulated large districts of country near the coast.

America and England should unite to put down this infamous business, and should do something more than write and talk about it. If their citizens and subjects are of such enterprising character that they crowd all others out and secure a monopoly of the most eminently infamous commerce that the world ever knew, the Governments themselves should show a corresponding efficiency in protecting other people against their rapacity.

An Eastern exchange says the Country Reform bill of Emperor William, which was defeated in the upper house of the Diet, enlarged the representation of the smaller proprietors and peasants in the county assembly, and gave to that assembly the election of the landrath. Now of the 163 members of the upper house of the Prussian Diet, about 112 are the immediate representatives of these landed families. They have been fighting this measure ever since King William's accession, for in the intervals of war and foreign complication this question has, during all this period, had seasons of agitation. It has now been pressed to an issue because the time was ripe for a dissolution of the Diet, in case it refused to pass it, the Diet having held the limited number of sessions permitted by the Constitution. The bill as now proposed is merely an entering wedge, so conservative indeed that some of the votes against it were cast by radicals who demanded a still more liberal measure.

The report that there was a misunderstanding between Mr. Greeley and Whitelaw Reid, seems to have been without foundation. The New York Herald of December 2d, contains a statement from the private secretary of Mr. Greeley, showing that while he originally wrote a brief general disclaimer of the article headed "Crums of Comfort," he really ordered it suppressed himself, and wrote another article treating the matter with even less concern than at first.

Both articles were as usual enclosed to Mr. Reid, who wrote to Mr. Greeley that he would hold them over until the morrow, and would then act as Mr Greeley might desire. The next day Mr. Greeley expressed a wish to have no reference made to the matter, and his satisfaction with what Mr Reid had done. He subsequently wrote three articles for the Tribune, which were published.

The brotherly intimacy and warm affection which existed between him and Mr Reid were never interrupted for a moment, and his last act was a glance of recognition toward him and an effort to extend to him his almost paralyzed hand.

A Visit to the Locks.

Yesterday we visited the Canal and Locks at the Wallamet Falls, in company with the President of the Company and several other gentlemen of this city. Never having seen the work before, we confess to have been surprised at its magnitude. The distance from the mouth of the Canal below the Falls to the entrance above, is 3,900 feet. A considerable part of this distance has been cut through a solid basalt which, in point of hardness, exceeds any stone we have ever seen worked. The width of the Canal is from sixty to eighty feet, except near the upper end, where it is over one hundred feet wide. The gates are forty feet in width. The walls of the lift locks are of solid masonry, laid in hydraulic cement, except where the natural stone through which the Canal has been cut is sufficiently high to serve as walls. At such points fenders are put in securely to protect the boats from contact with the uneven surface of the stone. The masonry is of great thickness and strength. The gates, which weigh twenty tons to each wing, or forty tons to the gate, are to be opened and closed by machinery, though they are so nicely adjusted that a man can swing them with one hand. Above the upper lift lock, the wall on the side next the river is of wood work, very broad at the base, sloping toward the top and filled in with stone. Not being an engineer, we do not profess to be able to judge very correctly of such matters, but if we find anything in this work to criticize it is these walls. The stone with which they are filled in, is open so that the air can pass through it with more or less freedom, which may cause the woodwork to decay sooner than if it were wholly protected against atmospheric action. This wood-work, however, is itself built upon a foundation of masonry and so bolted down with long wedged bolts extending entirely through the wall in different directions, that it can never give way while any considerable part of the timber remains sound.

There are four lift locks designed to raise the boats about ten feet each. These are near the mouth of the canal. Near the upper end is a guard lock, to protect the works below against accident. The water has already been let into the canal at its upper entrance, and stands about nine feet deep down to the first gate, which it has not yet been allowed to pass. The dam has been removed from the mouth of the canal and, the gate being open, the river at its present low stage stands six or seven feet in the lower lock.

We shall not attempt a more particular description of the work. Some general idea of its magnitude may be formed from the fact that over fifteen tons of giant powder have been used in blasting, and over five thousand barrels of cement in the masonry.

The work is nearly finished. A large number of men have already been discharged. There only remains yet to be done the hanging of one gate and the placing of fenders in one of the locks. A large part of the force now on the work is employed simply in clearing away rubbish and cleaning up generally. It is expected the entire job will be completed and ready for the passage of boats by the first of January. All who rightly appreciate the importance of this enterprise to the development of our State, will rejoice in the day of its completion.

A Boston letter of December 6th gives sworn returns furnished by the Insurance Companies since the Boston fire, said to represent five sixths of the entire losses. The insurance losses will exceed $52,000,000. The losses of Boston companies foot up $27,000,000.

The Situation in France.

PARIS, Dec. 6.—The Committee of Thirty had a first meeting to-day, and organized by the election of Baron De Larcy as President, Audiffret Pasquier as Vice-President, and Lefevre, Pountalis and Haussmanville as Secretaries. They then adjourned to Monday. It is expected the committee will report a bill declaring that any minister who is censured must resign, excluding the President from debate in the Assembly but giving him by way of compensation a limited veto power. It is inferred from the political composition of the committee that any proposition for a dissolution of the Assembly will be rejected, and nothing more radical than a partial renewal of the Chamber once at year or once every two years, will be entertained.

Bien Public says the complexion of the committee makes the situation all the more precarious, while the executive and the Assembly are equally averse to a coup; the country can not tolerate the present state of affairs. It intimates that the country should spontaneously intervene, which is interpreted to mean that it should continue to send petitions in support of Thiers and his government. Thiers has resolved that there shall be no change in the ministry until the report of the Committee of Thirty is presented. Then, if the report is unfavorable to him, he will oppose it in the Assembly.

A meeting of the extreme left to-day decided not to move for the dissolution of the Assembly until the question is thoroughly agitated by means of petitions.

The Siecle started this idea, and it is rapidly gaining ground. Petitions for a dissolution are coming from all parts of the country.

The Assembly committee charged with the consideration of the electoral law decided to recommend the franchise to be given to all males over 25 years, who have lived a year in the district in which they vote, and that voting shall be made compulsory.

The Cincinnati Gazette considers Prussia at once the most progressive and the most conservative Government in Europe. In illustration of its progressive character, the Gazette says:

In sweeping away the landlord gods of feudal time, Prussia has advanced more rapidly since the opening of the century than almost any other country. Before 1807 no peasant or tradesman could acquire title to land in Prussia. Four years afterward, a most radical measure was adopted, by which peasant tenants, by giving up one-third of the land held by them under perpetual lease, secured of the lord of the manor a clear and undisputed title to the other two thirds. Those who held life lease had simply to give up one half of the acreage to secure the ownership of the other half. Common lands were also parceled and sold out to small proprietors. These revolutionary changes and the absence of primogeniture are largely responsible for the rapidity with which Prussia recovered from the Napoleonic wars and rose to the head of European nationalities. The kings of Prussia have, almost without exception, kept a sharp eye on the welfare of the rural districts, taking pains to repopulate with immigrant communities counties that had been devastated by war or pestilence. In this respect the Prussian provinces bear a strong contrast to the Duchies of Mecklenburg, their near neighbors, than whom a more wretched peasantry does not exist this side of Russia.

A Paris special of December 6th says: The Government will adopt one of three courses in reference to the report of the committee of thirty. First—The resignation of the Cabinet and formation of another from the right center and left; Second—Thus detaching votes from the right and organizing a new majority favorable to the Government. Second—A formal declaration of the impossibility of continuing the Government under existing circumstances and an appeal for the dissolution of the Assembly. Third—The complete retirement of the Government and the acceptance of a Cabinet exclusively from the right. This latter course is most unlikely, but is more probable than the resignation of Thiers.

The geographical societies of Germany give their approval to a plan for a methodical exploration of Africa. Committees to carry out the purposes are forming.

Ohio claims a calf seven months old that weighs eight hundred pounds, but there are so many prodigies in the State she can't decide which to dedicate it to.

The Louisville Courier-Journal poetically remarks "In Montgomery, Ala., the other day, four negroes got on a spree, one got out his jack-knife, and now there ain't but the three."

CITY.

SEEING PROPERTY.—An old man came to Police Court late on Thursday evening and desired to place himself under the protection of the officers. He was evidently suffering from mental disorder, as he said some persons at the hotel where he had put up were after his life. They were endeavoring to get possession of his person to hang him. The Chief of Police tried to persuade the man that it was only his diseased fancy which was at work that no one was seeking his life, and that it was nothing but sheer imagination. But all argumente proved unavailing. The old man said he came, a few days ago, up from Lewiston, to this city, for the purpose of receiving medical attention, but on his arrival here, he had become seized with a presentiment that his life was in danger. He had striven to shake off the impression, but could not succeed in making himself of his fears. He had plenty of money on his person and offered to pay for his board. He wished to be locked up in a dark cell and then he would feel secure. After great difficulty he was induced to go back to his hotel and agree to go to bed. The man is partially deranged, but hardly, his insanity assumes strange freaks.

THE LADIES' FRIEND.—It is now susceptible of easy proof that the Sewing Machine has been a greater blessing to the people than any invention of the present century. Nothing else has done so much to save the lives and health of the wives and mothers, the patient over worked women of the land. Every father and husband fails in his duty, if he neglects to endow his home of with such a triumph of science. The Improved Home Shuttle has gained an excellent reputation in our community—being less complicated and sold at two-thirds the price of other first class machines. Its sales have astonished by increased, and at present far exceed that of any other on the North Pacific Coast. They are furnished, No 1, $30, No. 2, $45, and forwarded to any address on receipt of price. The agent, G. W. Traver, 112 Front street, has just received a large supply and guarantees them to give satisfaction. An excellent present for the Holidays.

FEMALE INTOXICATED.—Mrs. Quinney was arrested on Thursday night about 11 o'clock, lying in a beastly state of intoxication in an old wooden shed on Yamhill street. On her person was found a gold watch and some money, besides other valuables. She was removed to the city jail, where she passed the night, but her vigorous recollection prevented all the prisoners about the establishment from sleeping a wink. Yesterday she was brought into Court, when the Judge fined her off with a moderate fine—$5 and costs. This woman has been intoxicated several times of late and was fined in the Police Court twice before. She is an old woman and is possessed of considerable property, but she seems to have become a helpless slave to the demon of drink. An Inebriate Asylum should receive such a woman, as the law in its administration is impotent to work a reformation.

HANDSOME MODEL.—At the Oro Fino Saloon can be seen a very handsome model of a side-wheel steamboat. The model was purchased by Colonel Jones from the builder at Vancouver. A very creditable degree of mechanical taste has been evinced, and skillful workmanship expended in the construction of the model. It is 72 inches long, 16 inches beam, and 5 inches hold. In style the model was fashioned after the hull and cabin of the steamer Oneonta. The hull contains wooden boiler, engines, walking beam, machinery, all of which are attended to the wheels. All the appointments in miniature, are provided, which are used on board a large steamer. The cabin is very handsomely painted and finished, floor carpeted, and divided into sleeping rooms, smoking apartments, etc. This model bears the singular title of Libby Nice.

HIGHLY REPREHENSIBLE.—It seems that in the matter of bad boys, this city does not enjoy a monopoly. Some very bad boys during Thursday night effected an entrance to the little ferry house in East Portland, near the foot of L street, and deposited filth on the floor and over the seats. There is no possible chance of ascertaining who the vile wretches were, but Mr. Knott expresses a determination to prosecute to the fullest extent of the law any one who may be detected in committing a similar offence.

ELECTION AND INSTALLATION.—At a meeting of Portland Royal Arch Chapter No. 3, on Thursday evening last, the following officers were elected and installed: J. McCraken, H. P.; J. B. Congle, K.; A. G. Walling, S.; C. H. Lewis, C. of H.; W. W. Francis, P. S.; H. Saxer, R. A. C.; J. C. Ainsworth, Treasurer; B. F. Goodwin, Sec.; J. W. Cook, M. 3d V.; A. Roberts, M. 2d V.; J. H. Lappeus, M. 1st V.; Seth L. Pope, Sentinel.

INSTITUTED.—Columbia Encampment No 4, Champions of the Red Cross, was instituted at St. Helens on Dec 10th, by M. D. Morrick, D. G. C., with the following elective officers. D. C. Telford, C.; E. L. Yeargain, J. C.; D. F. Fox, C. of E.; W. W. Nichols, R. S.; H. F. Giltner, F. S.; E. Morse, T.; S. E. Giltner, I. G.; C. McNelly, O. G. A new encampment will probably be instituted at East Portland on Monday next by the same officer.

NOT REGULAR.—Services are not held with much regularity in the Chapel at the Insane Asylum, on Sundays, in consequence of the generally inclement weather and the difficulty which the ministers who officiate, from this city, have in reaching that institution. There is some talk at present of discontinuing services until the return of spring.

FLYING COLORS.—At 1 o'clock last evening, the tug Channel Light left the wharf, and with not even steaming, proceeded down the river in tow of the steamer Dixie Thompson. This steamer had on board a heavy cargo of wheat, which will be transferred to the ship, when the St. Helens bar is passed.

WAITING FOR A CALM.—The brig Pathfinder is still at San Francisco waiting for a calm. She sailed for the mouth of the Columbia on the 4th inst., but encountering adverse gales, was compelled to put back to the bay on the 5th. When the wind abates its violence the brig will again venture forth.

NEW BANK.—The plans and specifications for the proposed new bank at the corner of A and Front streets, to be erected by the Bank of British Columbia, are expected to arrive from Log Island in a few days. The plans were forwarded some months ago to be examined and reported on by the managers of the Bank.

FIREMEN'S ELECTION.—The regular firemen's election came off at Vancouver last Tuesday, resulting in the election of the following officers: President, John F. Smith; Secretary, P. O. Upton; Treasurer, John Jaggy; Foreman, Mat. Mac Shane Brown; First Assistant, — Hood; Second Assistant, George Allen.

STILL DISCHARGING.—At the latest accounts the ship Victoria Nyanza was still discharging railroad iron at Astoria. She was to unload originally, 800 tons of the material. It is uncertain yet undetermined whether this vessel will unload all her cargo at that point or not.

HEATING.—For the first time the new Central schoolhouse was heated yesterday by the patent heating apparatus. The new building will now be ready for the reception of pupils until after the holidays.

FULL ATTENDANCE DESIRED.—An unusually interesting meeting of the Sportsmen's Club will be held this evening at the Police Court room. It is earnestly desired that all the members shall be present.

HEALTHFUL CONDITION.—At present, we are informed, there is not a single case of sickness in the Insane Asylum. This is an exceptional instance, and has not occurred often in the history of the institution.

FREE TRADE.—This vessel has completed her cargo for San Francisco, at Vancouver, and will be towed down the river to day. Cottonwood lumber composes the vessel's entire cargo.

UNMOORED.—The rain which has fallen during the last night and forty hours, yesterday, produced not the slightest visible effects on the low stage of water in the river.

MOTIONS.—Motions will be the order of business in the Circuit Court to day.

CHRISTMAS BALL.—The citizens of Vancouver propose to give a grand ball at Oro Fino Hall on the evening preceding Christmas.

POLICE CHRONICLES.—In the days when La Fayette, whose surname was Grover, was Governor of the land of Webfoot, behold the people of Portland, the chief city of the land, were of the faith of their fathers, and trusted in Republicanism, and when they who called themselves Democrats offered their services to the people and said, "Come, now, ye men of Portland, elect us to office and let us lay hands upon the treasury, and we will dwell among and watch over your city's interest" But the people said, "Nay, but we will have men whose faith is as our faith to rule us, and they cast the Democrats out of the political synagogue and put Republicans into the high places. Then the Democrats were gathered together at Salem, the city of Council for the dwellers in the land of Webfoot, and the great Sanhedrim held a council and devised plans to secure unto themselves the high places in the chief city, and they said unto the law givers assembled at the city of council, "Give us a law and make a decree saying that no man who is a Black Republican shall set in places of honor in the chief city" And the law givers did even as the Sanhedrim desired. And the Governor said, "Be it so" And Behold now I have a few men in that place who shall say unto the people," We will appoint unto you men who shall watch over your city and bind fetters upon your hoodlums, and lock and open your prison doors!" And the Governor appointed his three friends to thus say to the people of the chief city. And the three were clad in the robes of office, and were called Police Commissioners. And it came to pass that soon afterwards the people of the chief city were called upon to choose their rulers, and there were many in the place who were impecunious and had not wherewithal to purchase drinks, and they were Democrats, and they gathered together at the chamber of the boss of the three friends and said unto the boss, "Behold the day is at hand when the people will choose their rulers and there will be much strife, and many citizens of the land of Webfoot will look upon the flowing bowl and drink of the favorite beverage of the Democracy and will become drunken. And it will be needful that many guardians of the people be appointed, that peace may prevail. Therefore now make us guardians for two days only. Let us put on the star of brightly shining tin on which the boisterous rabble may look, in that day, and be still. And the boss said unto them, even unto four score-and six of them "Be it so; put ye on the star, gird yourselves for the fray, get you staves of office and pistols and guard the peace of this people, and unto each of you shall be given upwards of several pieces of silver," and the silver that was promised them was many pieces—even a thousand and eight hundred and twenty pieces. And the four score and six did as the boss commanded them, and all the day, while the people of the city were choosing their rulers, the four score and six walked up and down among them, and the glittering stars were seen on every hand, but the people did not become boisterous nor disturb the peace of the city, but they went forth in quietness and placed the Republicans again in the high places. Then the four-score and-six said unto the boss, "Pay us what then owest, even nine pieces of silver, to each one of us," but the boss said, "Behold, now, ye misunderstand me, I will not pay you, but the people will reward you." And the City Fathers of the chief city gathered in the hall of the Common Council and said, "We are guardians of the people's money, and we will not reward the four score and six, for they did no good unto the people." And they refused to pay even one farthing. Then the four score and six went unto Upton, who was a Judge in the land of the Webfoot, and was learned in the law, and said unto him, "Compel the people to pay us." But the Judge said, "I will call now twelve men of the realm, lawful and true, and they shall decide this matter." And he called the twelve. And the disciples of one Black stone talked long and loud unto the twelve, and one said, "The people ought to pay three men" But one who was chosen, stood up for the people and defended them with much wisdom and many words, and showed that the people should not pay. So the twelve counselled together, and they agreed that the four score and six must not look to the people for their pay, but must look to the boss. And when this was known, the four score and six were exceeding wroth, and the boss was wroth also and said, "I will not pay," but the four score and six declare that their labor shall not go thus unrewarded. And what they did is not written in the second chapter of the Book of these Chronicles.

FIRE.—Yesterday at 3 o'clock P. M., the alarm of fire was sounded. Prompt as usual, the efficient department was on hand. The alarm was occasioned by the burning flue of a store on the river side of Front between Morrison and Alder. The good services of the firemen were therefore not called into requisition, and the fire was extinguished without the application of water from the engines.

LAYING IN SUPPLIES.—The various livery stables of the city are laying in abundant supplies of hay. Immense quantities of this article are constantly arriving by boat. The steamer Rescue brought up over 50 bales yesterday. Should the present winter prove unexpectedly rigorous, the stable keepers will be prepared to meet such an emergency without much inconvenience.

OFF THE TRACK.—Thursday, as the locomotive "Portland" was switching off the main track at Junction City, she ran on to the ties and the train was detained about four hours in consequence. No one was hurt, and the damages were very slight to the locomotive. The blame probably rests between the engineer and switch man.

BEACHED.—The tug Ben Holladay was beached at Rainier a few days ago, and the two newly cast and larger propellers were attached to her. These two propellers greatly augment the towing capacity of the tug. Entirely new and more powerful engines are also soon to be placed in, which will impart additional strength to the craft.

AT THE THEATRE.—At the usual hour, Mrs. A. J. Dunlway will deliver another lecture at the Oro Fino Theater to morrow evening. Her subject on that occasion is announced as "Amusements—their Uses and Abuses." The lecture will be attended with the customary introductory exercises.

BRIG PERPETUA.—This brig was met yesterday by the steamer Rescue, opposite Columbia City, in tow of the tug Ben Holladay. The Perpetua has completed her cargo of lumber for San Francisco, and will proceed to sea the first opportunity presented.

PRISONERS.—Sheriff Caywood still has the usual complement of boarders, notwithstanding the recent action of the Circuit Court in certain criminal cases has had much to do in reducing the number. There are now twenty five prisoners confined in the county jail.

TO JOIN HIS COMRADES.—China Charlie now convicted of grand larceny in the Circuit Court, will receive his sentence to day, and will be on his road to join Watkins' Raccoon Brigade by the first of next week.

USUAL SERVICES.—The usual services will be held in the Unitarian Church morning and evening, Rev. Mr. Eliot, pastor, officiating. A cordial invitation is extended to strangers, and to the public.

Now is the time to buy your hats. Meus dorf has just received a fine assortment of new style for the holidays. The Oak Hats and Shanley Hats are beauties; give him a call.

Jurors excused until Tuesday morning at nine o'clock.

A STARTLING TRUTH!—Thousands die annually from neglected coughs and colds, which soon ripen into consumption, or other equally fatal diseases of the lungs when by the timely use of a single bottle of Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry their lives might have been preserved to a green old age.

AMUSEMENTS.

The Portland Social Club will give a calico ball at the Armory Hall, on the evening of the 31st inst. On this occasion the ladies and gentlemen who attend will appear in calico costumes.

Miss Kate Denin, the talented actress who is on board the steamer Ajax, will arrive this evening. A new season will open at Oro Fino Theater on Monday evening, with Miss Denin as leading lady.

We learn that an effort is being made by the members of the Bristol Benevolent Society, recently organized in this city, to hold a grand select ball in the evening of the 26th inst. The proceeds are to be appliedto benevolent objects.

The benefit concert tendered last evening at the Odd Fellows' Hall, by the members of the Last Portland band, to Mr. George A. Buchanan, drew a full house. The receipts were a substantial token of the esteem in which the recipient is held. The programme was excellent, and was rendered in a meritorious style.

The audience room of the Baptist Church was well filled last evening with lovers of music, who were amply repaid for their attendance on the occasion. The selections were, in many instances, rendered acceptably. Of those deserving of special mention was the Duet, "The Lord My Pasture," Mrs. Brownell and Dr. Pilkington. "Rest, Spirit Rest," Solo and Quintette, Miss Alice Pease. "Peace on The Deep," by a Quartette, and "The Bird Let Loose." Mrs. Brownell and Miss Pease; Mr. R. T. Yarndley, a gentleman who has recently came among us, performed two solos on the piano, which were highly appreciated. We shall be pleased to see more of his performances at some future day. The concert, consisting wholly of classical and sacred music closed with selections from "Christus' Miserere," which was rendered by the full strength of the ladies and gentlemen to the satisfaction of all present. Prof. Newell's efforts to introduce such music to our citizens is deserving of much praise.

The Coriolli Vaudeville Troupe will give one of their attractive performances this afternoon at matinee, and also this evening at the Theater.

Well attended, and substantial in all respects, was the benefit tendered Mr. Crosbie last evening at Oro Fino Theater. The auditorium was densly crowded with a very fashionable assemblage of ladies and gentlemen. The evening's performance opened with the three act comedy of "Taming the Sheron" which was spiritedly rendered. During the interlude Mr. Chas Coriell gave the audience his champion bone solo. We do not exaggerate the truth when we say that in this solo Mr. Coriell fully equals if not excels Joe Murphy, whose execution on the "bones" are regarded as almost wonderful. This was followed by a song and dance rendered by Messrs. Kearney and Griffin. For amateurs, the singing and dancing was par excellence, and the first efforts of these beginners in that line, are far from discouraging. They were encored twice and greeted with sounds of applause at each appearance. The performance for the evening concluded with the "Two Horns of a Dilemma." The beneficiary should feel flattered by the very substantial testimonial given him at the hands of this public.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Why Endure What Is Curable?

What can't be cured must be endured, says the proverb; that indigestion can be cured, and that forever, is the merest stupidity to endure it. Dyspeptics have certainly a right to continue dyspeptics to the end of their days if they choose; but as it is not supposed that any rational being prefers misery and torment to ease and health, the probability is that all sufferers from indigestion are convinced that an absolute, infallible remedy for their complaint existed, they would with one accord resort to it. We most emphatically declare that such a remedy does exist, and that its name is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. The record of its success extends over a period of more than twenty years, and it is fearlessly alleged that, during the whole of that time, it has never failed to afford permanent relief in any disorder or derangement of the stomach that was not organic, malignant and incurable. The testimonials that go to establish this important fact can be counted by the thousand. Stomach complaints that had been aggravated by a total disregard of all dietary rules, and intensified and rendered chronic by medicinal treatment or drastic purgation, have in hundreds of instances been cured within three months by the systematic use of this celebrated stomachic and alterative. It should be remembered that weakness of the digestive organs involves many other ailments. Biliousness, headache, spasms, palpitation of the heart, nervous debility, rush of blood to the head, nausea, vertigo and sleeplessness are among its concomitants and results, and for all these the great vegetable tonic is a specific. It acts first upon the stomach, and through the stomach upon the secretory and nervous systems and the bowels, its general effect being always genial and beneficent.

PLANTATION BITTERS!

S. T.—1860—X.

Th a wonderful vegetable restorative is the sheet-anchor of the feeble and debilitated. As a tonic and cordial for the aged and languid it has no equal among stomachics. As a remedy for the nervous weakness to which women are especially subject, it is superseding every other stimulant. In all climates, tropical, temperate or frigid, it acts as a specific in every species of disorder which undermines the bodily strength and breaks down the animal spirits.

MEXICAN MUSTANG LINIMENT

FOR MAN AND BEAST.

Probably few articles have ever had so extensive a Sale, while none have been more universally beneficial than the MEXICAN MUSTANG LINIMENT. Children, Adults, Horses and Domestic Animals, are always liable to accident, and it is safe to say, that no family can pass a single season without some kind of an emollient being necessary. It becomes a matter of importance then to secure the best.

Over three hundred livery stables in the city of New York alone are using the MEXICAN MUSTANG LINIMENT, in all of which it gives unusual satisfaction.

CAUTION.—The genuine is wrapped in a fine Steel Plate engraving with "O. W. Wistbrook, Chemist," and "Trade Mark, MEXICAN MUSTANG LINIMENT," engraved across the face of each wrapper. The whole bears the proprietor's private United States Revenue Stamp, and not a common stamp, as used by druggists.

CITY.

SEEKING PROTECTION.—An old man came to Police Court late on Thursday evening and desired to place himself under the protection of the officers He was evidently suffering from mental disorder, as he said some person at the hotel where he had put up were after his life. They were endeavoring to get possession of his person to hang him The Chief of Police tried to persuade the man that it was only his diseased fancy which was at work, that no one was seeking his life, and that it was nothing but sheer imagination. But all arguments proved unavailing. Too old man said he came, a few days ago, from Lewiston, to this city, for the purpose of receiving medical attention, but on his arrival here, he had become seized with a presentiment that his life was in danger He had striven to shake off the impression, but could not succeed in robbing himself of his fears He had plenty of money on his person and offered to pay for his board. He wished to be locked up in a dark cell where he would feel secure After great difficulty he was induced to go back to the hotel and retire to bed. The man is partially deranged, but only, his insanity assumes strange freaks

THE LADIES' FRIEND.—It is now susceptible of easy proof that the Sewing Machine has been a greater blessing to the people than any invention of the present century. Nothing else has done so much to save the lives and health of the wives and mothers, the patient over worked women of the land Every father and husband fails in his duty, if he neglects to endow his home of with such a triumph of science. The Improved Home Shuttle has gained an excellent reputation in our community—being less complicated and sold at two-thirds the price of other first-class machines. Its sales have steadily increased, and at present far exceed that of any other on the North Pacific Coast. They are furnished, No. 1, $30, No. 2, $35, and forwarded to any address on receipt of price. The agent, G W. Traver, 112 Front street, has just received a large supply and guarantees them to give satisfaction. An excellent present for the Holidays.

FEMALE INTOXICATED.—Mrs. Quinney was arrested on Thursday night about 11 o'clock, lying in a beastly state of intoxication in an old wooden shed on Yamhill street. On her person was found a gold watch and some money, besides other valuables. She was removed to the city jail, where she passed the night, but her vigorous exhilaration prevented all the prisoners about the establishment from sleeping a wink. Yesterday she was brought into Court, when the Judge let her off with a moderate fine—$5 and costs. This woman has been intoxicated several times of late and was fined in the Police Court twice before. She is an old woman and is possessed of considerable property, but she seems to have become a helpless slave to the demon of drink. An Inebriate Asylum should receive such a woman, as the law in its present administration is impotent to work a reformation.

HANDSOME MODEL.—At the Ore Fine Saloon can be seen a very handsome model of a side-wheel steamboat. The model was purchased by Colonel Jones from the builder at Vancouver. A very creditable degree of mechanical taste has been evinced, and skillful workmanship expended in the construction of the model. It is 72 inches long, 16 inches beam, and 5 inches hold. In style the model was fashioned after the hull and cabin of the steamer Oneonta. The hull contains wooden boiler, engines, walking beam, machinery, all of which are attached to the wheels. All the appointments in miniature, are provided, which are used on board a large steamer. The cabin is very handsomely painted and finished, floors carpeted, and divided into sleeping rooms, cooking apartments, etc. This model bears the singular title of Libby Nice.

HIGHLY REPREHENSIBLE.—It seems that in the midst of bad boys, this city does not enjoy a monopoly. Some very bad boys during Thursday night effected an entrance to the little ferry house in East Portland, near the foot of L street, and deposited filth on the floor and over the seats There is no possible chance of ascertaining who the vile wretches were, but Mr. Knott expresses a determination to prosecute to the fullest extent of the law any one who may be detected in committing a similar offence.

ELECTION AND INSTALLATION.—At a meeting of Portland Royal Arch Chapter No. 3, on Thursday evening last, the following officers were elected and installed. J. McCraken, H. P.; J. B Congle, K.; A. G. Walling, S.; C. H. Lewis, C. of H.; W. W. Francis, P. S.; H. Setzer, R. A. C.; J. C. Ainsworth, Treasurer; B. F Goodwin, Sec; J. W. Cook, M. 3d V.; A. Roberts, M 2d V.; J. H. Lappens, M. 1st V., Seth L. Pope, Sentinel.

INSTITUTED.—Columbia Encampment No. 4, Champions of the Red Cross, was instituted at St. Helens on Dec. 10th, by M. D. Merrick, D. G. M., with the following elective officers. D. C. Talbird, C. E. L. Yeargain, J. C; B. F Fox, G. H. W. Nichols, R. S; B. F. Giltner, F S; E. E. Morse, T; S E. Giltner, I. G, C McNelly, O. G. A new encampment will probably be instituted at East Portland on Monday next by the same officer.

NOT REGULAR.—Services are not held with much regularity in the Chapel at the Insane Asylum, on Sundays, in consequence of the generally inclement weather and the difficulty which the administers who officiate, from this city, have in tackling that institution There is some talk at present of discontinuing services until the return of spring.

FLYING COLORS.—At 4 o'clock last evening, the ship Channel Light left the wharf, and with colors streaming, proceeded down the river in tow of the steamer Dixie Thompson. This steamer had on board a heavy cargo of wheat, which will be transferred to the ship, when the St. Helens bar is passed.

WAITING FOR A CALM.—The brig Pathfinder is still at San Francisco waiting for a calm. She sailed for the mouth of the Columbia on the 4th inst, but encountering adverse gales, was compelled to put back to the bay on the 5th When the wind abates its violence the brig will again venture forth.

NEW BANK.—The plans and specifications for the proposed new bank at the corner of A and Front streets, to be erected by the bank of British Columbia, are expected to arrive from Log and in a few days. The plans were forwarded nine months ago to be examined and reported on by the managers of the Bank.

FIREMEN'S ELECTION.—The regular firemen's election came off at Vancouver last Tuesday, resulting in the election of the following officers President, John F Smith Secretary, P O Lyre, Treasurer, John Jaggy Foreman, Mat Shaw Brown, First Assistant, — Hoch, Second Assistant, George Allen.

SOME DISCOURAGING.—At the latest accounts, the ship Victoria Nyanza was still discharging her load from at Astoria. She was to unload originally, 800 tons of the material It is a question yet undetermined whether this vessel will unload all her cargo at that point or not

HEATING.—For the first time the new Central Schoolhouse was heated yesterday by the patent heating apparatus. The new building will not be ready for the reception of pupils until after the holidays.

FULL ATTENDANCE DESIRED.—An unusually interesting meeting of the Sportsmen's Club will be held this evening at the Police Court room It is earnestly desired that all the members shall be present.

HEALTHFUL CONDITION.—At present, we are informed, there is not a single case of sickness in the Insane Asylum. This is an exceptional instance, and has not occurred often in the history of the institution.

FREE TRADE.—This vessel has completed her cargo for San Francisco, at Vancouver, and will be towed down the river to-day Cottonwood is to compose the vessel's entire cargo

RAINED.—The rain which has fallen within the last night and forty-hours, yet produces not the slightest visible effects on the low stage of water in the river.

MOTIONS.—Motions will be the order of business in the Circuit Court to day.

CHRISTMAS BALL.—The citizens of Vancouver propose to give a grand ball at Ore Fine Hall on the evening preceding Christmas.

POLICE CHRONICLES.—In the days when La Fayette, whose surname was Grover, was Governor of the land of Webfoot, behold the people of Portland, the chief city of the land, were of the faith of their fathers, and trusted in Republicanism, and when they who called themselves Democrats offered their services to the people and said, "Come, now, ye men of Portland, elect us to office and let us lay hands upon the treasury, and we will dwell among and watch over your city's interest but the people said, 'Nay, but we will have men whose faith is as our faith to rule us' and they cast the Democrats out of the political synagogue and put Republicans into the high places Then the Democrats were gathered together at Salem, the city of counsel for the dwellers in the land of Webfoot, and the great Snahe drum held a council and decreed plans to secure unto themselves the high places in the chief city, and they said unto the law givers assembled at the city of counsel, "Give us a law and make a decree saying that no man who is a Black Republican shall sit in places of honor in the chief city." And the law givers did even as the Snahedrim desired And the Governor said, "Be it ab And Behold now I have a few men in that place who shall say unto the people," 'We will appoint unto you men who shall watch over your city and bind fetters upon your hoodlums, and lock and open your prison doors!' And the Governor appointed his three friends to thus say to the people of the chief city And the three were clad in the robes of office, and were called Police Commissioners And it came to pass that soon afterwards the people of the chief city were unable to choose their rulers, and there were many in the place who were impecunious and had not wherewithal to purchase drinks, and they were Democrats, and they gathered together at the chamber of the hose of the three friends and said unto the hose, "Behold the day is at hand when the people will choose their rulers and there will be much strife, and many citizens of the land of Webfoot will look upon the flowing bowl and drink of the favorite beverage of the Democracy and will become drunken. And it will be needful that many guardians of the people be appointed, that peace may prevail. Therefore now make us guardians for two days only Let us put on the star of brightly shining tin on which the boisterous rabble may look, in that day, and be still. And the hose said unto them, even unto four score-and six of them, "Be it so, put ye on the star, and yourselves for the fray, get you staves of office and pistols and guard the peace of this people, and unto each of you shall be given upwards of several pieces of silver," and the silver that was promised them was many pieces—even a thousand and eight hundred and twenty pieces. And the four score and six did as the hose commanded them; and all the day, while the people of the city were choosing their rulers, the four score-and-six walked up and down among them, and the glittering stars were seen on every hand, but the people did not become boisterous nor disturb the peace of the city, but they went forth in quietness and placed the Republicans again in the high places. Then the four-score-and-six said unto the hose, "Pay us what thou owest, even nine pieces of silver, to each one of us," but the boss said, "Behold, now, ye misunderstand me; I will not pay you, but the people will reward you" And the City Fathers of the chief city gathered in the hall of the Common Council and said, "We are guardians of the people's money, and we will not reward the four score and six, for they did no good unto the people." And they refused to pay even one farthing Then the four score and six went unto Upton, who was a Judge in the land of the Webfoot, and was learned in the law, and said unto him, "Compel the people to pay us." But the Judge said, "I will call now twelve men of the realm, lawful and true, and they shall decide this matter" And he called the twelve And the disciples of one Blackstone talked long and loud unto the twelve, and one said, "The people ought to pay these men." But one who was chosen, stood up for the people and defended them with much wisdom and many words, and showed that the people should not pay So the twelve counselled together, and they agreed that the four score and six must not look to the people for their pay, but must look to the boss. And when this was known, the four score and six were exceeding wroth, and the host was wroth also and said, 'I will not pay,' but the four score and six declare that their labor shall not go thus unrewarded. And what they did is not written in the second chapter of the Book of these Chronicles

FIRE.—Yesterday at 3 o'clock P M, the alarm of fire was sounded. Prompt as usual, the efficient department was on hand. The alarm was occasioned by the burning flue of a store on the river side of Front between Morrison and Alder The good services of the firemen were therefore not called into requisition, and the fire was extinguished without the application of water from the engines.

LATEST IN SUPPLIES.—The various livery stables of the city are laying in abundant supplies of hay. Immense quantities of this article are constantly arriving by boat. The steamer Resene brought up over 50 bales yesterday. Should the present winter prove unexpectedly rigorous, the stable keepers will be prepared to meet such an emergency without much inconvenience

OFF THE TRACK.—Thursday, as the locomotive "Portland" was switching off the main track at Junction City, she ran on to the ties and the train was detained about four hours in consequence No one was hurt, and the damages were very slight to the locomotive The blame probably rests between the engineer and switch man.

DISABLED.—The tug Ben Holladay was beached at Rainier a few days ago, and the two newly cast and larger propellers were attached to her. These two propellers greatly augment the towing capacity of the tug Entirely new and more powerful engines are also soon to be placed in, which will impart additional strength to the craft.

AT THE THEATRE.—At the usual hour, Mrs A J Duniway will deliver another lecture at the Ore Fino Theater to morrow evening Her subject on that occasion is announced as "Amusements—their Uses and Abuses" The lecture will be attended with the customary introductory exercises.

BRIG PERPETUA.—This brig was met yesterday by the steamer Rescue, opposite Columbia City, in tow of the tug Ben Holladay The Perpetua has completed her cargo of lumber for San Francisco, and will proceed to sea the first opportunity presented.

PRISONERS.—Sheriff Caywood still has the usual complement of boarders, notwithstanding the recent action of the Circuit Court in certain criminal cases has had much to do in reducing the number There are now twenty five prisoners confined in the county jail.

TO JOHN HIS COMRADES.—China Charlie, now convicted of grand larceny in the Circuit Court, will receive his sentence to day, and will be on his road to join Watkins' Raccoon Brigade by the first of next week

USUAL SERVICES.—The usual services will be held in the Unitarian Church, morning and evening, Rev. Mr Eliot, pastor, officiating. A cordial invitation is extended to strangers, and to be public.

A STARTLING TRUTH!—Thousands die annually from neglected coughs and colds, which soon ripen into consumption, or other equally fatal disease of the lungs when by the timely use of a single bottle of Dr Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry their lives might have been preserved to a green old age

AMUSEMENTS.

The Portland Social Club will give a calico ball at the Armory Hall, on the evening of the 21st inst On this occasion the ladies and gentlemen who attend will appear in calico costumes.

Miss Kate Denin, the talented actress, who is on board the steamer Ajax, will arrive this evening A new season will open at Oro Fino Theater on Monday evening, with Miss Denin as leading lady

We learn that an effort is being made by the members of the British Benevolent society, recently organized in this city, to hold a grand select ball on the evening of the 26th inst The proceeds are to be applied to benevolent objects

The benefit concert tendered last evening at the Odd Fellows' Hall, by the members of the First Portland band, to Mr. George A Buchanan, drew a full house The receipts were a substantial token of the esteem in which the recipient is held The programme was excellent, and was rendered in a meritorious style.

The audience room of the Baptist Church was well filled last evening with lovers of music, who were amply repaid for their attendance on the occasion The selections were, in many instances, rendered acceptably Of those deserving of special mention was the Duet, "The Lord Me Pasture," Mrs. Brownell and Dr Pilkington, "Rest, Spirit Rest," Solo and Quintette, Miss Alice Pease, "Peace on The Deep," by Quartette, and "The Bird Let Loose," Mrs. Brownell and Miss Pease. Mr. R. T Yarndley, a gentleman who has recently come among us, performed two solos on the piano, which were highly appreciated. We shall be pleased to see more of his performances at some future day The concert, consisting wholly of classical and social music, closed with selections from "Christus' Miserere," which was rendered by the full strength of the ladies and gentlemen to the satisfaction of all present Prof Newell's efforts to introduce such music to our citizens is deserving of much praise

The Coriell Vaudeville Troupe will give one of their attractive performances this afternoon at matinee, and also this evening at the Theater.

Well attended, and substantial in all respects, was the benefit tendered Mr Crosbie last evening at Ore Fino Theater. The auditorium was densly crowded with a very fashionable assemblage of ladies and gentlemen. The evening's performance opened with the three act comedy of "Taming the Sheron" which was spiritedly rendered During the interlude Mr. Chas. Coriell gave the audience his champion bone solo We do not exaggerate the truth when we say that in this solo Mr. Coriell fully equals if not excels Joe Murphy, whose execution on the 'bones' are regarded as almost wonderful. This was followed by a song and dance rendered by Messrs. Kearney and Griffin. For amateurs, the singing and dancing was par excellence, and the first efforts of these beginners in that line, are far from discouraging They were encored twice and greeted with sounds of applause on each appearance. The performance for the evening concluded with the "Two Horns of a Dilemma" The beneficiary should feel flattered by the very substantial testimonial given him at the hands of this public.

Why Endure What is Curable?

"What can't be cured must be endured" says the proverb, but indigestion can be cured, and therefore it is the most stupidity to endure it Dyspepsia has certainly a right to continue disputatious to the end of their days if they choose, but as it is not supposed that any rational being prefers physical torment to calm health, the probability is that all sufferers from indigestion were convinced that there was an infallible remedy for their complaint existed, they would with one accord resort to it We most emphatically declare that such a remedy does exist, and that its name is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters The record of its success extends over a period of more than twenty years, and it is fearlessly alleged that during the whole of that time, it has never failed to afford permanent relief in any disorder or derangement of the stomach that was not organic, malignant and incurable The testimonials that go to establish this important fact can be counted by the thousand Stomach complaints that had been aggravated by a total disregard of all dietary rules, and intensified and rendered chronic by medicinal treatment or drastic purgation, have in hundreds of instances been cured within three months by the systematic use of this celebrated stomachic and alterative It should be remembered that weakness of the digestive organs involves many other ailments Biliousness, headache, spasms, palpitation of the heart, nervous debility rush of blood to the head, nausea, vertigo and sleeplessness are among its concomitants and results, and for all these the great vegetable tonic is a specific It acts first upon the stomach, and through the stomach upon the secretory and nervous systems and the bowels, its general effect being always genial and beneficent

God's Ways.

God speaks to hearts of men in many ways
Some thro' red banner of the rising sun
Spread o'er the east a crimson ray taught His praise;
Some the sweet silence when the day is done
Some after low less than all earth have won
His word in children's hearts and children's gaze

And some have found Him where low rafters ring
To greet the hand that helps the heart that cheers
And some in prayer and some in perfecting,
Of watchful toil through unrewarding years

And some not less are His who vainly sought
His voice, and with his silence have been taught,—
Who have his christ that he'd them to be found,
And in the end in finding not, have found

Spectator

THE ONE DOLLAR BILL

How it did rain that November night! None of your undecided showers, with hesitating intervals, as it were, between, none of your mild, persistent pattering on the roof, but a regular tempest, a wild deluge, a rush of arrowy drops and a thunder of opening floods!

Squire Partlet heard the angry rattle against the casements and drew his snug easy-chair a little closer to the bro—a great open mass of glimmering anthracite—and gazed with a sort of sleepy, reflective satisfaction at the crimson moreen curtains, and the gray cat fast asleep on the hearth, and the canary bird rolled into a drowsy ball of red down on its perch.

"This is snug," quoth the squire. "I'm glad I had that leaky spot fixed in the barn roof last week. I don't object to a stormy night once in a while, when a fellow is under cover, and there's nothing particular to be done, Mary!"

"Yes," Mrs. Partlet answered. She was flitting about between kitchen and sitting-room with a blue check apron tied around her waist. "I'm nearly ready to come in now, Josiah. Now I wonder if," sotto voce, "it that was really a knock at the door, or a little rush of the wind and the rain?"

She went to the door, nevertheless, and a minute or two afterward she went to her husband's chair.

"Joe, dear, it's Luke Ruddilove," she said, half apprehensively. The squire looked up from his paper.

"Tell him he's made a mistake. The tavern is on the corner beyond."

"But he wants to know if you will lend him a dollar"

"And couldn't you have told him No, without the preliminary ceremony of coming in here to ask me? Is it likely that I shall lend a dollar or even a cent to Luke Ruddilove? Why, I had a great deal better throw it in among yonder red coals! no—of course no!"

Mrs. Partlet hesitated

"He looked so pinched and cold and wretched, Josiah. He says there's nobody in the world to let him have a cent"

"All the better for him, if he did but know it," sharply enunciated the squire. "If it had come to that pitch half a dozen years ago, perhaps he wouldn't have been the miserable man he is now."

"We used to go to school together," said Mrs. Partlet, gently. "He was the smartest boy in the class."

"That's probable enough," said the squire "But it don't alter the fact that he's a poor drunken wretch now. Send him about his business, Polly, and if his time is of any consequence, just let him know that he had better not waste it coming here after dollars"

And the squire leaned back in his chair after positive fashion, as if the whole matter was definitely decided.

Mrs. Partlet went back to the kitchen where Luke Ruddilove was spreading his poor, thin fingers over the blaze of fire, his tattered garments steaming as if he were a pillar of vapor He won't let you have it, Luke," said she, "I thought he wouldn't."

"Then I've got to starve, like any other dog!" said Luke Ruddilove, turning away moodily. "And, after all, I don't suppose it makes much difference whether I shuffle out of the world to-day or to-morrow."

"Oh, Luke, not to your wife?"

"She'd be better off without me," said Luke, down-heartedly."

"But she ought not to be."

"Ought and is are two different things, Mrs. Partlet. Good night! I ain't going to the tavern, though I'll wager something the square thought I was."

And isn't it natural enough he should think so, Luke?"

"Yes—yes, Mary, I don't say but what it is," murmured Luke Ruddilove, in the same dejected tone he had used throughout the interview.

"Stay!" Mrs. Partlet called to him, as his hand lay on the door-latch, in a low voice. "Here's a dollar, Luke, Mr. Partlet gave to me for a new piece of oil-cloth in front of the dining-room stove, but I'll try and make the old one do a little while longer. And Luke, for the sake of old times—for the sake of your poor wife, will you do better?"

Luke Ruddilove looked vacantly at first at the fresh new bank bill in his hand, and then at the blooming young matron who placed it there.

"Thank you, Mary," he said, and crept out of the warm, bright kitchen, into the storm and darkness that reigned without Mrs. Partlet stood looking into the kitchen fire.

"I dare say I've done a very foolish thing," she pondered; "but indeed I could not help it. Of course he'll spend it all at the public house, and I shall do without my oil cloth, that will be the end of it all."

And there was a conscious flush on her cheek, as if she had done something wrong, when she rejoined the squire in the sitting-room.

"Well," said Squire Partlet, "has that no'er-do-well gone at last?"

"Yes."

"To Stoke's tavern, I suppose?"

"I hope not, Josiah."

"I'm afraid it's past hoping for," said the squire, shrugging his shoulders. "And now for a pleasant evening. How it does rain, to be sure."

And Mrs. Partlet kept the secret of the dollar bill within her own heart.

It was six months afterward that the squire came into the room where his wife was preserving some great red apples into jelly.

"Well, well," quoth he, "wonders never will cease. The Ruddiloves have gone away."

"Gone where?"

"I don't know—out West somewhere with a colony. And they say Luke hasn't touched a drop in six months."

"I'm glad of that," said Mrs Partlet

"It won't last long," said the squire, despairingly.

"Why not?"

"Oh, I don't know. But I haven't any faith in these sudden reforms.

Mrs. Partlet was silent, she thought thankfully that after all Luke had not spent the dollar bill in liquor.

Six months—six years—the time sped along, in days and weeks, almost before busy little Mrs. Partlet know that it was gone. The Ruddiloves had got back to Sequoseters.

Luke had made his fortune, as the story went, in the far away Eldorado, vaguely phrased "Our West" by the simple Sequoseters.

"They do say," said Mrs Buchanan, "that he's bought that 'ere lot down opposite the Court House, and is going to build such a house as never was."

"He must have prospered greatly," said the gentle Mrs. Partlet

"And his wife wears a silk gown that will stand alone with its own richness," said Mrs Buckingham, "I can remember when Luke Ruddilove was nothing but a poor drunken creature."

"All the more credit to him now," said Mrs. Partlet, emphatically

"It's to be all o' stun," said Mrs Buckingham, "with marble mantels and inlaid floors And he's put a lot of papers and things under the corner one."

"The corner what?" said Mrs. Partlet, laughing. "Floor or mantel?"

"Stun, to be sure," said Mrs Buckingham. "Like they do in public buildings, you know"

"That is natural enough."

"Well, it's a kind o' queer, but Luke Ruddilove never was't like nobody else Folks thinks it's dreadful strange he should put a one dollar bill in with the other things"

Mrs. Partlet felt her cheeks flush scarlet, she glanced up to where the squire was checking off a list of legal items in the bill he was making out against some client. But he never looked around, and Mrs. Buckingham went on with her never-ceasing flow of chit-chat, and so the color died away in her cheek After all the money had been her own to give and the old oil cloth in front of the dining room stove had answered very well

She met Luke Ruddilove that afternoon for the first time since his return to Sequoseet—Luke himself, yet not himself,—the demon of intemperance crushed out of his nature, and its better, nobler elements triumphing at last He looked her brightly in the face, as he held out his hand

'Mary

'I am glad to see you back here again, Luke,' she said tremulously,

'And well you may be, he rejoined, 'Do you remember the night you gave me the dollar bill, and begged me not to go to the tavern'

'Yes'

That night was the pivot on which my whole destiny turned. You were kind to me when every one spoke coldly, you trusted me when all other faces were averted I vowed a vow to myself to prove worthy of your confidence, and I kept it I did not spend the money—I treasured it up—and heaven has added mightily to my little store I put the dollar bill under the corner stone of my new house, for the house has risen from it and it alone I won't offer to pay you back, for I am afraid," he added smilingly, "the luck would go from me with it, but I'll tell you what I will do, Mary, I will give money and words of trust and encouragement to some other poor wretch as you gave to me"

And Squire Partlet never knew what his wife did with the dollar bill he gave her to buy a new piece of oil-cloth.

Who Keeps this Hotel?

When Gen. Butler first landed in New Orleans he selected the celebrated St Charles hotel for his head-quarters, and at once sent directions thither that arrangements should be made for the accomodation of himself and staff. When, however, they arrived at the hotel, after the necessary delays of landing, the general was informed that the keeper of the house demurred to the proprosition so far as it involved his providing meals for his new visitors, and wished that for their food some other arrangement might be made. It proved, indeed, on inquiry, that the man professed himself unwilling to assume the responsibility of a charge so unpopular as at that moment he supposed the entertainment of the Yankee general and his cortege to be How could he tell, he asked, what his servants might not do in feeding so many men who were hated by the whole community! He could not think of incurring the risk of providing bread and meat for conquerors.

When this reply was made known to Gen. Butler he sent for the recusant landlord and asked him if he had been rightly informed. The landlord said he had—and he repeated to Gen. Butler the statement which he had made to one and another member of the staff who had given him orders The city was excited, his servants could not say that Gen Butler and the officers of his suite might not eat or drink poison in the food that was placed before them on his table.

"Nor can I, sir!" said Gen Butler in reply, "but you will go on and give the requisite orders We shall eat the food you provide—and if we we be poisoned, why, in the agonies of death we shall have one satisfaction, namely, that we know who keeps this hotel!"

On the strength of that order the inn-keeper returned to his duty

What is Catgut?

Some inquiring mind has started the question "What is Catgut?" The Shoe and Leather Reporter thus answers—"For many years the only article used under this name consisted of the intestine of sheep, cut and twisted. As the Italian sheep are the leanest of those accessible to market, and as the membranes of lean animals are known to be tougher than those of animals in high condition, the best catgut has come from Naples and that vicinity.

There is no historical record concerning the use of the intestines of cats for strings of this sort, but from the fact that the name from earliest times has uniformly been applied to this article, it would appear altogether probable that the strings did first come or were supposed to come from that source. The chief use of catgut for many years was for the strings of harps and guitars; it was manufactured from the viscera of sheep. The membranes of smaller animals are sometimes used for the covering of whips and such purposes, but sheep still furnish the strings for musical instruments. The membranes are ordinarily exposed to the power of burning sulphur, and then twisted into cords of different sizes as wanted. Musical strings, whip cords, hatters' cords, strings of clocks, etc., are the chief uses on the list. They are then dyed, stretched on frames, and dried in a very high temperature."

KEEP THE CATTLE GROWING.—The most successful breeders of horses, cattle, sheep, or swine, know from experience that although they may possess the best breeding animals, they will not be successful in producing superior stock if a continual growth of young animals is not kept up In order to begin in time at this indispensable preparation for success, the brood mares, cows, ewes and sows are most carefully and suitably fed while, with young, and as soon as the young animals make their appearance, they are taken the greatest care of, the dams being suitably fed while suckling, and when the young ones are weaned, they are not supposed to want for food or drink a moment. By this means a continuous or rapid growth is kept up, and the animals attain a large size and heavy weight at an early age. When breeding animals are not properly fed and comfortably sheltered in winter, the bad effect of such treatment is not confined to their want of condition—it is shared by their progeny, and can never be remediated. When young stock are not fed well and comfortably sheltered in winter, their growth becomes stunted, and no subsequent amount of good treatment can repair the damage. Young animals may suffer for want of proper provender in summer and autumn, as well as in winter, and when this happens it stops continuous growth and prevents ultimate success in the objects of the breeders —Working Farmer.

THE RESOURCES OF JAPAN.—A writer in Blackwood's Magazine, speaking from personal knowledge of the natural resources of Japan, says

"In minerals the country is very rich The precious and useful metals are found there in large quantities as well as coal, and a few mines are already worked on an important scale Rock crystal is abundant, pearls and corals are fished along the coast, but no diamonds, nor indeed any other stones of value have yet been found We all know how able Japanese are in mineral working, especially in gold and copper With the skill which they have so long possessed, and with their capacity of imitation (it is remembered that they built their first steamboat and its engine solely from a description in a Dutch book), it may be expected that they will soon produce all the hardware with which we now supply them In the manufactures generally there has not, thus far, been much development, though several European articles, such as window glass, grape wine, and beer, are beginning to be made on a small scale In the staple products of Japan, in lacquer, porcelain, and silk crape, no change can possibly be looked for, they are so perfect that foreigners have not learned to equal them Indeed, the secret of lacquer and of weaving silk with the same pattern on both sides has never been discovered outside Japan"

TENNYSON.—Thomas Buchanan Read, the poet painter, was asked one day if he had ever met Tennyson 'I have,' he replied, 'and that just after the battle of Bull Run Tennyson came hastily into the club room in which I sat, and said 'Great news! the Southrons have beaten the Yankees, who have fled precipitately from the field I could not relish this kind of talk from an Englishman, and replied 'Well, Mr Tennyson if the Southrons have run the Yankees from the field, it was an American victory, any way It is more than your countrymen ever did' Tennyson did not answer, nor did any other Briton present. The arrow went right to its mark."

"Tennyson! why," said Read, "he looks no more like a poet than does a lobster if compared with a gold fish. Angular, awkward, with great hands and feet, and coarse hair streaming away, he is not the man that a romantic lady would die for."

THAT GOOSE.—A pious negro woman was once caught by her master stealing a goose, and the next Sunday she partook of the communion after which her master accosted her as follows

Why, Hannah, I saw you to day at the communion table"

'Yes, tank de Lord, massa, I was bowed to be dare wid de rest of the family'

'But Hannah, I was surprised to see you there' he said "How about that goose" She looked a little surprised, as if she did not understand the question, but, catching the meaning, exclaimed

'Why, sah do you think I'se agoin' to let an ole goose stand between me and my Maker?'

DISABLED SOLDIERS' ASYLUM.—A Washington dispatch of December 6th, says the Board of Managers of the National Asylum for Disabled Volunteers held their annual meeting in the Surgeon-General's office President Grant, General Martindale, Governor Frederick Smith, Lewis B Gunckle, General Thomas O Osborne and General Wolcott were present Reports from the various asylums showed that the four regular buildings are fuller than ever Nearly 1,000 disabled are being provided for in the different asylums After the necessary appropriation the Board adjourned until the 4th of March.

Wheat in Liverpool—Average, 12s@12s 4d., Club, 12s 6d@13

There is but little doing in Money circles, and the feeling is fairly easy, speaking comparatively with the former week's business Bank rates continue steady and outside discounts range from 1½@2½ per cent a month

We trust from appearances that returns for our extensive grain shipments will, before long, begin to flow into other legitimate channels of trade, and thus tend in a measure to bring further relief That such a condition of affairs will be experienced before the middle of next month, there is but little prospect now The reader should understand that we do not hazard the prediction, that such relief as indicated will come at that time but, that in the ordinary course of events, it cannot be expected before that

The publication of statistics and finely devised theories for the amelioration of the financial condition of the country, and so forth, may be interesting to readers, and serve to put it on who are disposed to discuss these topics, and furnish them with arguments in support of chosen systems of trade, but after all is said, we must ourselves back at the original ideas, that the patronage of home enterprises, the confinement of trade to proper channels, and a rapid development of the resources of the country, combined with an economical system of government, are the surest and the only protection against an era of monetary stringency But we can never make the matter better by continual complaints and to those who make such we commend the following from the Commercial Reporter of this week

There is no denying, notwithstanding the money pressure, that Oregon and Washington Territory are to day in a more prosperous condition than over before More land is being improved and cultivated manufactories are increasing, the interests are being increased in capacity, so as to turn out a greater number of salmon next season the manufactories, excepting a few, and any all of them, are running on full time so as to meet the demand, and above all direct importation is gaining rapidly in strength that in a few years it will be very heavy, thus affording nearly all the tonnage required to convey our surplus crops to foreign markets, which will insure to producers higher prices for the products of their farms

The Cotton Crop

The November report of the statistician of the Department of Agriculture, in regard to the Cotton crop, is substantially as follows, viz

The weather has been fine for picking. Frosts have been earlier than usual in the more Northern States, but an earlier maturity of the plant is the result everywhere, and the past month has been quite favorable for the development of the maturing bolls while the returns of the condition since August have been not a below the average. They have been higher than those of the corresponding months of the previous and very unfavorable season, averaging in October, eighty two against seventy six, and in September, ninety-one against eighty The November returns give the indicated total product in comparison with the small crop of 1871, and the average made is about sixteen per cent. increase, with an increase in cultivation larger by twelve to thirteen per cent The greatest losses from the prevalence of the army and boll worm are found in Florida and Alabama In Louisiana, Mississippi and Georgia there has also been heavy local damage In Arkansas a material reduction of the yield was caused by drought in July and August

The indicated product of fibre per acre returned from each county makes the following averages for each State North Carolina, 173 lbs; South Carolina, 182, Georgia, 186; Florida, 125, Alabama, 176; Mississippi, 203, Louisiana, 215; Texas, 226, Arkansas, 170; Tennessee, 190. The amount in cotton, as calculated from the returns of 1872, is as follows—In North Carolina, 460,649 lbs, South Carolina, 570,625, Georgia, 1,011,331; Florida, 109,000; Alabama, 1,267 971; Mississippi, 1,857 018, Louisiana, 940,219, Texas, 914,240; Arkansas, 693 512; Tennessee, 518,606 In calculating the indicated product, the average bale is estimated at 466 lbs.

Boots and Shoes.

The latest mail advices from the East report that the excited condition of the market created by the great Boston conflagration, has in a great measure, subsided, and that business has generally relapsed into the usual appearance of quietude noticeable at this time of the year Orders are mostly confined to the requirements of early buyers to make good their assortments. Prices continue to rule very firm, and are held at outside figures, in sympathy with the advance in leather, findings, linings gaiting, etc Few contracts will be made very early for goods for next season, but offers will remain in abeyance until the market is more settled, and values have made more assumed their normal condition. The disturbance caused by the fire will result in more or less temporary disadvantage, even where there are no losses, and it will take time to get matters to rights Manufacturers of fine work are receiving fewer orders than a fortnight ago, and there will most likely be comparatively dull times until after the holidays Inferior work is also slow, and promises to be no more active for some time to come

Imports since November 1st

In the Reporter of this date we find that since the first of November the our imports have been as follows 1,146 pkgs of agricultural implements 2,017 cases boots and shoes; 3 804 cases of canned goods, 1,021 bxs candles 370 pkgs cordage, 808 bags coffee 340 pkgs crockery 300 pkgs dry goods; 293 cases drugs and chemicals; 372 pkgs glass 676 pkgs hardware, 135 tons pig iron, 765 bundles hoop, 676 bbls tar, and over 2,000 tons railroad rails and materials; 95 pkgs liquors, 6,920 kegs and pkgs syrups; 93 bales cotton, 6 bbls pitch, 36 bbls rosin, 127 cases turpentine; 1,320 kegs nails; 5,194 cases oils 194 pkgs lards and paints, 180 pkgs hams, bacon and lard; 955 pkgs rice, 1,243 pkgs, 2,319 bxs soap, 200 pkgs starch, 339 pkgs spices; 686 bbls, 1,499 half bbls, and 706 pkgs sugar, 1,403 pkgs spirits, 788 pkgs teas; 244 pkgs tobacco 106 pkgs and cases wines

Home Produce Market.

WHEAT—The continued appreciation in the San Francisco market has operated here in favor of the producer, and though the market is still unsettled, we can report that holders now have a disposition to make concessions than heretofore. Were our exporters governed by the San Francisco market, the advance here would have been much greater than it has Telegrams to day from still further rise in San Francisco giving positions at $1 92½@1 92½ per cental This rise is much speculated on by buyers here who claim that they cannot see their way to any profit at such rates but there is some disposition to advance from 2½@3c per cental, and we believe round lots would command $1 85@1 90 to-day The tonnage to arrive at San Francisco is very large and we see by our exchanges that nearly enough vessels might be named to arrive before the close of the harvest year to carry Calif ornia entire surplus This is not so with Oregon, as after all the ships now under charter or looking to this port, will leave a large portion of our surplus on hand

OATS—Under San Francisco advices transactions have been dull, and as consequence receipts are small Our quotations are $1 02½@1 05 per 100 lbs in sacks stored here

FLOUR—Holders are firm in refusing large orders, and seem hopeful of better rates ere waiting, even The California market sympathising with the advance in wheat is quoted at $6 for extra of standard brands

POTATOES—The San Francisco market drops and there is no demand for shipment For the local trade prices are firm at 75c@$1 per 100 lbs

FEED—Nothing doing in bran The supply is fully equal to the demand and which is quite brisk

HAY—The market is dull under large receipts and prices seem weaker

BARLEY—We hear of some inquiry in the market and rates are firm at $1 00@1 10 per 100 lbs for one half dred pounds and favor the seller

BUTTER—Is in moderate supply as to choice at 40@45c per lb and full is in common at 25@35c

DR RESSER HAVING LOCATED HIMSELF IN Portland permanently, makes both

Liver & Lung Diseases

A SPECIALTY,

And is now prepared to treat patients for those diseases

Not being fortunate enough to have treated a great many eminent and distinguished persons, whose names are most generally emblazoned to the world by advertising physicians, but at the same time I can produce numerous and voluntary testimonials from those I have treated for the above diseases

It is well enough known throughout California that I am the possessor of a secret to prepare a medicine purely vegetable, for the above diseases, and have made some of the

Most Remarkable Cures on Record,

And in cases which were called despaired of by other physicians

A Card to the Public.

Having learned that Dr H RESSER has located himself in Portland, I deem it my duty to the public, and more particularly to such person who may be afflicted as I have been After leaving Portland, a few months ago I became afflict d with Epileptic Fits, and after having tried and consulted the most distinguished physicians, without any benefit whatever, I was advised to call on Dr H RESSER, who happened to be visiting Virginia City at the time on professional business Without losing time in placing myself under the care of DR RESSER, and now restored to perfect health I cannot highly recommend DR RESSER to those who may be equally afflicted FREDERICK FORNER

Other Testimony.

MR EDITOR I saw in your last issue of the Press a card written by Mr Robinson, and I deem it my duty also to make a similar statement, for the benefit of those who are troubled with diseases of the lungs Three years ago I commenced under the treatment of some of the most skillful physicians of the Atlantic States, who pronounced my case incurable Consumption After treating with them about two years, with but little benefit, I was advised a change of climate, which I made, and came to Santa Barbara about two years ago, with the hopes of a speedy recovery, but could not see that the change had been what I anticipated until a month since I commenced under the treatment of Dr. RESSER, and have improved in health very much in that time, and am confident in a short time I will be restored to perfect health under his treatment. I cordially recommend DR RESSER to the public MRS. M L REYNOLDS

BY CHARLES HOZEL.

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., May 25, 1871.

I consider it my duty to the public to make the following statement, hoping that some unfortunate invalid may be benefitted by it. Having been sick for some time with lung disease (or consumption), I applied to many physicians in San Francisco and other places, under whose treatment I found no relief. A short time since I met Dr. Resser here in Santa Barbara and knowing of some of the wonderful cures he has made in different parts of the State, I put myself under his treatment, and commenced to improve immediately. I can warmly recommend Dr. Resser to all who are afflicted with this dreadful disease, as he makes the lung and liver diseases his specialty

ELIJAH ROBINSON.

Card.

It is well known here that I have been under the doctors care for the last twelve months in San Francisco and here, but without relief—no benefit from any one When Dr Resser arrived here, a short time ago I put myself under his treatment, and commenced to improve immediately and I am confident that in a short time I shall be restored to my health again I can highly recommend Dr Resser to the public

COLEMAN O'DONNEL

Virginia City, Oct 18, 1872.

Card.

To remove all doubt from the public mind in relation to a question which has created some dispute in San Jose I do hereby give my name for following public statement to facts It is well known that I have for a long time been in consumption—so low in fact that I had given up all hope of her recovery I called on Dr H RESSER, who spoke confidently and in two weeks time she was able to walk out and in three weeks has been on a visit to San Francisco and is now living and enjoying good health I can recommend Dr H Resser to all who are afflicted with diseases of the lungs.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco Established in 1854 for the treatment of Special and Sexual Diseases, such as Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Nominal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of long standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal Hospitals of Europe, and has resumed practice at his Dispensary, 623 Kearny street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco, where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies, and has returned with increased facilities for the alleviation of human suffering

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene Let parents, guardians, friends, and others whose who are suffering with any of these horrible, life destroying maladies—see that they are cured for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to DR GIBBON, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate case, without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. He therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms unless combatted by scientific medical treatment viz Hollow countenance dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the swelling of heavy sounding of churches, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of, the limbs, confused vision, vitiated intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers a dislike to form new acquaintances, slippery hands, to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pim
